To Whom It May Concern

I have worked with M & P Contracts over the past 12 months during the construction of a new hospital facility. Both the management and the site teams hold safety as a priority and this reflected by the approach they take to their activities on site. The work carried out has included SFS framing and insulated render application and this has been completed to a high standard of quality. Their attitude towards problem solving is extremely pro-active and I would recommend them on any of my future projects.

They have bought into the Laing O'Rourke philosophy of safety being the most important factor on site and we welcome company's who share the same values as us.
