To Whom It May Concern:

M&P Contractors - Relocation of Clare Hall Project, Budmouth Technology College

It is the first time that we, as a region, have employed M&P. They came highly recommended by our South Wales counterparts, and although their works package of partitioning is only part way through, at the time of writing, I can confirm that the comments made were more than justified.

So far, they have been highly pro-active in determining construction details via British Gypsum and in liaising with the Architect to reach satisfactory outcomes.

Their planning of labour resources and materials has always been appropriate to the target programme and its fluctuating demands.

Their management of site operations, quality and health and safety has been near faultless and, across the board, from the top, right down to individual operatives, they have a positive attitude and are very approachable.

Based on current experience, they have been a pleasure to work with, making our work easier and I would welcome the opportunity of working with them again, beyond this project.
